

To Report

- A child in immediate danger, contact 911.
- Online child exploitation, contact www.cybertipline.com or 1-800-THE-LOST.
- Cyberbullying, contact the Internet service provider and save the offensive material. Depending on the circumstances contact school administration, School Violence Hotline (www.schoolviolencehotline.com, 1-866-748-7047), school resource officer or local law enforcement.

For more information, go to:
www.missourikidsfirst.org & www.moicac.org

Notes:

This information is brought to you by the partnership between:

www.moicac.org • www.missourikidsfirst.org

This project is supported by Grant No. 2009-MC-CX-K017 awarded by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Dept. of Justice.

Teach kids at a young age the rules of the technology superhighway

- Communicate – Have an open, ongoing conversation with your child about their digital activities.
- Spend time with your child online – Let them show you what they do on the Internet, on the cell phone or while gaming.
- Set clear rules and boundaries – Ask the same questions as you would for after school activities or a night out...

WHERE are you going...digitally?

WHO are you going with...interacting with digitally?

WHAT time are you coming home...unplugging?

Teach Children to Protect Their...

- Name – If it's on the Internet, it's NOT PRIVATE! Be careful disclosing last names, contact information and pictures. PROTECT YOUR PASSWORD, it is the key to your online identity.
- Identity – What you post or send to the digital world can stay there forever! Your identity should be fun, creative and protected. So uphold your ...
- Reputation – Online, cell phone and gaming behavior is still YOUR BEHAVIOR! Peers, parents or employers may see what you do digitally: so leave the doors to your future open by protecting your reputation.